

---

Child-friendly Beer bars & Brewpubs

Posted by uncamark - 2008/10/05 05:51

---

For those beer geeks with young kids (e.g., infants through teen years), there seems to be a dearth of information concerning kid-friendly places that treat kids well. I know that we have discovered a bunch so far and are always looking for new suggestions. To start, try the Waterfront Ale House (Brooklyn or Manhattan locations), Harvest Moon in New Brunswick, NJ, Stirling Hotel in Stirling, NJ, Iron Hill in Lancaster, PA, Pizzeria Uno in Metuchen, NJ, Isaac Newton's in Newtown, PA and several more that I'll probably post as time permits. Anyone else have any good experiences/places to share?

=====

Re:Child-friendly Beer bars & Brewpubs

Posted by BeerGoggles - 2008/10/05 12:06

---

The Manayunk BrewPub in Philadelphia and Iron Hill Brewery in North Wales are both kid friendly, as is the restaurant area of the Rock Bottom Brew Pub in King of Prussia, PA.

=====

Re:Child-friendly Beer bars & Brewpubs

Posted by kingbill - 2008/10/06 14:20

---

Chuckie Cheese, MacDonalds, Taco Bell. These are great places for kids. Bars are not.

=====

Re:Child-friendly Beer bars & Brewpubs

Posted by uncamark - 2008/10/07 10:47

---

Any responsibly drinking parents out there care to refute this gentleman's view?

=====

Re:Child-friendly Beer bars & Brewpubs

Posted by uncamark - 2008/10/21 12:51

---

My wife and I went to Uno Chicago Grill in Metuchen, NJ the other day with our 5 year old daughter. This one brews their own beer and they're not bad. Great place for kids and we had incredible burgers.

=====

Re:Child-friendly Beer bars & Brewpubs

Posted by lagerhead - 2008/10/22 13:42

---

These places are my sanctuary. The last thing I want to see when I walk in is screaming kids. Get a babysitter please.

=====

Re:Child-friendly Beer bars & Brewpubs

Posted by uncamark - 2008/10/27 14:08

---

I'm so sorry to hear about your experiences with "screaming" kids. These places are my sanctuary as well and I fully understand that a poorly behaved or upset child can bring down the experience for everyone within. However, I take exception to your narrow-minded generalization that all children behave poorly. My daughter and most other children I've seen at good beer haunts, especially those with children's menus, are better behaved than many of the so-called "adults" frequenting the place. In the unlikely event that my child were to ever have a behavior issue in public, I would do what any self-respecting parent would do ... resolve her issue as quickly as possible or, failing that, get my order to go and take her home. Now that that's over with, anyone have anything constructive to say that's on point (e.g., child-friendly places)?

---

=====

Re:Child-friendly Beer bars & Brewpubs

Posted by uncamark - 2008/11/11 04:27

---

Found another one: Franklin's in Hyattsville, MD. Full kid's menu, good pale ale and excellent onion rings.

=====